Thursday evening—Reception by Louisville citizens; grand vocal and instrumental concert and promenade in honor of delegates and visitors, at Phoenix Hill Park. Friday-Excursions, etc. In the call to the Republicans and other patriotic citizens, it is declared:

In the movement of the Republican column preliminary to Republican victory in 1896, it is the fortune, as it is the duty, of the League to move first. Its national convention of 1887 led the way, and made certain the party victory in 1888. Its two millions of members accept the party defeat of 1892 only as a larger call upon them for renewed devotion and effort in the con-gressional elections of 1894, the presidential and congressional elections in 1896, and in all State and local party contests of the time inter-

It is ready with its vast membership, with one of its own clubs at work in almost every neigh-borhood of the United States every day in the year, in all the nobler efforts of party methods, through popular effort and popular education, to bear the burden of daily party work in the four years to come. In this new day of complete Democratic ascendency in the Nation and the restoration of sectional rule in the government, with the committees of the United States Senate being reorganized in the interest of a section composing one-fourth of the States of the Union, in which States Republican voters are boldly and successfully disfranchised because they are Republicans, and when the Cabinet of the new President, with nearly half of its members from the same restricted section, is made up mainly in the in-terests of the great corporations of the land, there is but added reason for increased ardo and activity on the part of every true friend of human rights, free labor and self-respecting Americanism. The struggle did not end in 1892 As Abraham Lincoln, in the hour of a previous Republican defeat, so faithfully said, in 1858, all Republicans may say with fidelity now.

"The fight must go on. The cause of civil liberty must not be surrendered at the end of one or even one hundred defeats. It must go on until the weak and hetpless of all classes and conditions are protected under the laws, and until the day shall come, demanded by General Grant, "when the rights of a Republican shall be as fully admitted and as fully protected at every voting place in the land as the rights of a Democrat." To this end the national committee of the National Republican League cordially invites all citizens who believe in honest elections, and the right of every American voter to cast one vote and have it fairly counted; Who believe in the dignity of free labor and the faithful maintenance of the difference between American and European wages; Who believe in the established American policy of protection to American industry and to American workingmen, and in the new American policy of reciprocity; Who believe in the fullest protection of all property and all forms of invested interests, and yet who are opposed to corporation rule in the government of either Nation or State; Who remember now the Union soldier in his need, as well as in the day of his sacrifice and Who believe in sound money and honest gold and silver and paper currency, as money, as pledged in the national Republican platform at Who believe in such improvements and extensions of the banking systems of the country as will bring banking facilities nearer the people of the smaller towns and communities; Who believe in practical civil-service reform, such as will separate the spoils idea from politics, and yet preserve the people in control of all public offices and all public affairs, and who believe in liberal and broad-minded policies, and yet in the assertion of American ideas in all American affairs. FORT WAYNE INVESTIGATION.

Talk with Governor Matthews About the Governor Matthews was at his office yesterday, having returned from his visit to Fort Wayne during the night. When asked as to his discoveries at the School for Feeble-minded Children, he said:

"I had never visited the institution, and was interested in seeing what the school was doing. The charges of mismanagement were filed with me vesterday, for the first time, though I had before been asking for them by correspondence. They are, for the most part, of a business nature, and yet are not serious. I have concluded not to make them public until the investigation, which will be made some time next week. I will appoint Secretary Johnson, and Mr. Nicholson, and Mr. Elder, of the State Board of Charities, to make the investigation, which will take in the board of trustees, as well as those directly the object of charges. I propose that the investi-gation shall be thorough. It will be pub-lic, and every opportunity given those who prefer the charges to substantiate them. In case of the charges against several ladies connected with the school, it may be that another course will be pursued, in order to do no injustice. Charges against a woman ought to be pretty well established before she is subjected to suspicions which, no matter how innocent she might be, would ching to her all through her life. There is no politics in this thing, as sar as I am con-cerned, but, if there were, I would want it to involve men and not women." The Governor did not say so, but it is evident from the nature of his remarks that the charges are not of a nature to damage the good name of the institution. Regarding the selection of a superintend-ent, he said he had said to the board that the only thing he would ask of them is that they appoint a married man, and that his wife be required to live in the institution with him. He says it is a very difficult matter to get a man for the place who is thought to be well fitted for the duties. The qualities which the Governor thinks the board should most insist on are executive ability. It is then not so much a question of experience. Among those who give attention to the charitable work of States,

it is held that experience in one institution is not always a benefit to the appointee in another institution. This arises from the fact that institutions of this nature are much like individuals, having environment to which experience in other institutions will not apply, and the appointee is likely to fall into ruts which proto be made at Washington to-day, upon the recommendation of Representative Bynum. The friends of Morris Don-nelly and of Smith Myers have forwarded reasons showing, as they assert and believe, that the appointment is not a fit one, both on the score of politics as well as upon personal fitness. It is charged that Rail openly worked at the polls against Bynum himself in favor of Stanton J. Peelle for Congress, and that at sundry times he has been fighting the party nominees. Those who make these charges do not, however, maintain that they are likely to have much weight, with so re-cent a Republican as Walter Q. Gresham in the Cabinet. In fact, they somewhat resentfully remark that to have been a Republican at one time or a "kicker" is almost a necessary qualification for preferment in this administration. The appointment of Rail will likely cause some heartburnings that will, strangely enough, produce some "coolness" in the local Democracy. It may get cool enough to freeze out the present Representative in Congress.

THEY HAD A QUIET SESSION.

Uneventful Meeting of the School Commissioners Last Evening.

It was an unusual calm that prevailed at the meeting of the School Board last night. The meeting was called to order by President Frenzel with Messrs. Adam, Conner, Russe, Loeper and Vonnegut in their seats. Jungelaus & Schumacher, the contractors for the new library, asked that they be granted one week's extension on account of delay caused by the plasterers' strike. Mr. Conner called the board's attention to the fact that they would be compelled to evacuate their present quarters by the first of June and they should proceed cautiously in the matter of the extension. It was shown that it was the custom in all building centracts where forfeits were required if the work was not completed within stipulated time to deduct the time lost to the contractors without their fault and the board granted the extension for five days, the time actually lost by the strike.

W. C. Newcomb, who had the contract for the enumeration of school children, reported the work completed and his report year. He was allowed $147.06 for his work having been allowed $100 at another time The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $14,408.10, of which amount $27,-865.20 belonged to the Library Building fund. The secretary's report showed warrants drawn during the month of April to the amount of $22,822.47. The text-book committee reported in favor of a change in the rhetoric, proposing the use of Williams's in the place of D. J Hill's, now in use, and Gay's bookkeeping in the place of Nichols's.

Superintendent Jones submitted his report for the months of March and April. which was as follows: Enrollment, March, 16,833; April, 16,587; an increase over last year of 777 in March and 796 in April: suspended on account of absence, March, 12; April, 26; suspended on account of misconduct, March, 21; April, 15; corporal punishment inflicted, March, 63; April, 43.

The committee on Public Library reported as follows: Books belonging to library on April 1, 53,185; books added during the month, 454; total now in library. 53,689; total circulation, 28,448; increase over last year, 2,923. At the conclusion of new and miscellaneous business President Frenzel called Mr. Conner to the chair and spoke very feelingly of the departure of Cornelius Mayer from the future meetings of the board. Mr. Mayer's first work for the German Telegraph in the way of reporting was attending a meeting of the School Board, eleven years ago, and since that time he has scarcely missed a meeting. The board upon the motion of President Frenzel extended Mr. Mayer a vote of thanks for his faithfulness in his work in connection with the board and his universally courteous manner to the members thereof. In a few well-chosen remarks Mr. Mayer responded feelingly to the complimentary remarks of President Frenzel and the board adjourned.

Drawings for the Industrial School. Henry A. McComb, a representative of Wilson Brothers & Co., of Philadelphia whose design for the industrial school was accepted by the board at their last meeting, was in the city this week in conference with the committee of experts. The changes which the board considered advisable in the design were submitted to him, and he returned to Philadelphia and will prepare the drawings made necessary by the changes, which will be submitted in a week or ten days. If the drawings submitted are satisfactory to the board they will enter into a contract with the firm represented by McComb.

School Closed on Account of Measles. Superintendent Jones yesterday ordered school No. 9 closed until Monday, on account of measles in the family of the janitor, who will have moved off the school premises by that time.

YANCY AND MRS. SMITH.

Both Examined by the Coroner, and Both Deny Undue Fondness for Each Other.

Coroner Beck yesterday subjected Wirt Yancy, whose name has been frequently mentioned since the Smith tragedy occur red in North Indianapolis, to a rigid examination, but failed to adduce evidence of an important nature. Yancy denies in toto all stories reflecting upon himself and Mrs. Smith, and avers that his friendship for her was of a purely platonic pature. Mrs. Smith herself called at the coroner's office yesterday, and made an official statement, which is substantially the same as her original version of the affair. She also denied the rumors of her intimacy with Yancy. and testified that, aside from the usual family squalls incident to domestic life, her matrimonial existence was the happiest. her matrimonial existence was the happiest. She says that, some time ago, her family was troubled with escaping gas, and, one evening, before they had retired, they were compelled to open all the doors and windows to purify the atmosphere. Mrs. Smith had often heard her husband complain of feeling badly, and was aware of his afflictions. his afflictions. The testimony of Mrs. Smith and Wirt

Yancy was very contradictory as to the times they had met and the places of meet-Mrs. John Kitzmiller and a man named Wilson testified to having been at the house; not, however, until after the doors had been opened, and that they smelled no

Charged with Theft.

Detectives Thornton and McGuff yesterday restored to James Riley, of No. 465 South Tennessee street, the suit of clothes and several other garments recently stolen from Mr. Riley's home. The apparel was found in an Indiana-avenue pawn shop, where the thief had sold them. The de-tectives traced the matter down, and finally located the theft at the door of Mack Davidson, residing on Missouri street. Davidson was arrested, and it is thought can perhaps explain the whereabouts of many other missing articles of Honored a Requisition.

Governor Matthews yesterday honored a requisition from Governor Altgeld, of Illinois, for the extradition of William H. ROW AMONG SHOW PEOPLE

Bailey Circus Firm Enjoins the Dickson & Talbott Billing Concern.

Minor Cases in the Criminal Court-Beaupre Divorce Suit Compromised-Various Affairs of the Courts.

The fight which began several weeks ago between the management of the Adam Forepaugh show and the Indianapolis Bill Posting Company, owned by Dickson & Talbott, has waxed exceedingly warm. Yesterday afternoon James A. Bailey and Joseph T. McCaddon, proprietors of the show, were granted a temporary restraining order enjoining the bill posting company from in any wise interfering with the circus posters. The show people in their petition for an injunction allege that during the month of March they endeavored to enter into a contract with the bill posting company to advertise their shows in this city, but the latter, claiming to bave control of all the available space for posting advertisements, demanded exorbitant prices for their work. The plaintiffs refused to pay the prices demanded and at once took steps to secure space for displaying their advertisements and succeeded in contracting for space in various parts of the city, with owners and tenants of property, upon which bill-boards were erected and bills posted. Among other locations they allege that they contracted for space and the right to display adverisements on North Illinois street, near Wainut street, on Clifford avenue, near Brookside avenue, and on West Washington street, near the National road. They sliege that upon four different occasions within the past two weeks the defendants have posted white paper over the plaintiffs' advertisements displayed on the Illinois-street boards, and have posted blank paper and other advertising matters over the show advertisements on the Clifford-avenue boards. They also charge that the agents of the Bill Posting Company have gone to merchants and persons with whom the plaintiffs have contracted showed that there were 86,838 children of for space in windows and endeavored to inschool age, an increase of 1,344 over last | duce them to rescind such contracts by diering larger remunerations for the space although they did not desire to use it. In addition to the injunction asked the plaintiffs ask judgment for $100 damages against the defendant. Judge Harper issued a temporary restraining order, and the case, so far as the injunction is concerned, will be heard this morning.

In the Criminal Court. In the Criminal Court yesterday morning Arthur Hawkins, indicted for stealing a newspaper, was released under a suspended judgment. Jennie Cromback, the shoftlifter arrested by patrolman Duty, was released on her own recognizance. The evidence showed that she had for years been addicted to the use of morphine, and was under the influence of the drug at the time of the thefts for which she was arrested. At the police station a bottle containing the drug and a syringe for making hypodermic injections was found upon her.

Patrick Farrill pleaded guilty to stealing coat from the Famous Eagle clothing house, and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary therefor.

William Clark was placed on trial for grand larceny, accused of the theft of a gold watch from Mattie Franklyn. A part of the evidence was heard and the case continued till Tuesday. It appeared from the testimony introduced that Clark found the watch where Mattie Franklyn had dropped it upon the street; she saw him pick it up, and called to him, whereupon he took to his heels.

Before the Cadi, In the Police Court, yesterday morning, the case against William Battich, charged with assault and battery upon his wife. was continued until this morning. The cases against Sandy Stouber and Harry Clayton, charged with assault and battery, were also continued until this morn-

The double charge of drunkenness and oftering was placed against Charles Wesey. On the first he was fined $1 and costs, and on the last $100 and costs and sen-tenced to thirty days in the workhouse. George Williams, on a charge of va-grancy, was fined $50, and in default of syment went to the workhouse. James Craig was found not guilty of the harge of assault and battery. He drove a balky horse, which ran into and knocked down a woman at the corner of Pennsylvania and Washington streets, and she had him arrested.

Trial Without the Defendants. Daniel Feaster and his wife, Jennie Feaster, were arrested for peddling without a city license and gave bond for their appearance in the Police Court. The case, upon appeal, found its way into the Criminal Court, and was called for trial yester-day afternoon. The defendants could not be found, and their attorneys knew nothing of their whereabouts, but the case went on without them. The defendants peddled rugs for a local installment house, and the proprietor of the house for which they had worked did not know where they could be found.

Beaupre Divorce Suit Dismissed. The Beaupre divorce case was dismissed n Room 8 of the Superior Court yesterday. Several weeks ago Sarah Beaupre filed suit for divorce from Frank X. Beaupre, alleging cruelty as a cause for the separation. Wednesday Beaupre filed a cross-complaint, alleging cruelty on the part of his wife, charging her with having assaulted him with a curtain pole. In the meantime Mrs. Beaupre had consulted Father Bessonies about her domestic troubles, and upon his advice the two decided to try again to make married life a success, and the outcome was the dismissal of the divorce proceedings yester-

Family Suit. Charles A. and August C. Suher have filed suit against four of their brothers and sisters and the Progress Saving and Loan Association, to recover $400, alleged to be due them from the association. The plaintiffs allege that their mother, Augusta Suher, during her life subscribed in their behalf for two shares of stock in the association, which has since been paid out by them; that the defendants, other than the association, claim an interest in the amount due as heirs of Augusta Suher.

Asks for a Receiver. Chester P. Spain yesterday filed suit against George, George E. and Frank C. Wilson, photographers, for an accounting and appointment of a receiver. He alleges that he formed a partnership with the Wilsons, whereby he was to receive half the profits of the business and bear half the expenses, which contract, he alleges, has not been complied with. He alleges in-solvency on the part of the Wilsons and asks judgment against them in the sum of Suit for Damages.

Emily Rariden has sued the Pennsylvanta Company for $10,000 damages, and the case is on trial before Judge Bartholomew. The plaintiff was a passenger on one of the defendant's trains, and desired to leave the train at West Indianapolis. While she was upon the platform, in the act of alighting from the train, it started forward with a lunge, throwing her to the ground and bruising her considerably about the shoulders. Larimore Lad Released.

Roy Larimore, the boy arrested for grand arceny a few days ago, was taken before Judge Cox at his home after having waived arraignment in the Police Court and repri-manded by the Judge and released. The boy had taken a buggy found standing upon the street and drove about the city with it. He was arrested while still in possession of the buggy.

STRICKEN WITH APOPLEXY.

Sudden Death at Evanston of Morris Eddy.

an Old Resident of Indianapolis. Morris R. Eddy, formerly of the firm o Eddy & West, of this city, was stricken with apoplexy at his home in Evanston, Ill., yesterday morning, and expired without having regained consciousness. He left his office at the usual hour on Thursday evening and enjoyed his supper in apparent good health, afterwards driving a short time. He arose yesterday morning and stepped into the bath room to prepare his toilet and was found there later by his wife. A physician was called but nothing could be done for the sick man.

The deceased was well known in this city, and for many years was one of the leading business men of Indianapolis, carrying on with his partner, the late Mr. Vest, a large furnishing establishment on Pennsylvania street. In 1883 Mr. Eddy left here to accept a partnership interest in the firm of Wilson Bros., Chicago furnishers, with whom he was connected to the time of his death. During his life he was known and admired as a business man of sterling ability and a gentleman of superior social qualifications. He leaves a wife and four children, besides his mother and two sisters, Mrs. James E. Somers, of Washington city, and Mrs. Alice Edwards, of this city. Mr. Eddy was fifty-two years of

Death of David K. Folsom.

David K. Folsom died yesterday morning at St. Vincent's Hospital. From the serious nature of his disease it was found necessary to perform an operation on him two weeks ago. He grew rapidly better until last Monday, when his brain began to congest, which resulted in his death yesterday.

For twelve years Mr. Folsom had been the American Express Company's agent here. He was born in DeKalb Junction, N. Y., sixty-five years ago, and at twenty-five years of age started into the express business at St. Louis, with the express company he served until death. He held important positions with the company at Milwaukee and Louisville, but since 1881 has been stationed in this city. He was a member of the Commercial Club and Board of Trade, carrying a life policy of $1,000 in the latter. He was never married. Those who are expected to be a his funeral are his sister, Mrs. E. J. Wash-burn, of Handley, Tex.: M. R. Folsom, of De-Kalb Junction, N. Y., and G. A. Matthews, attorney for the W. A. Wood Reaper Com-pany at Chicago. Mr. Matthews arrived yesterday afternoon. Mr. Folsom, for several years, had owned the gelding Ayres, by Hambrino, dam by Tom Crowder, which was one of the best horses on the snow here for several winters. Mr. Folsom's remains were removed from the hospital to Kregelo & Whitsett's undertaking establishment yesterday morning, where they were embalmed and taken to the Grand Hotel. The body will remain in the hotel parlor until 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when the funeral will occur. Interment at Crown Hill Cemetery.

CITY NEWS NOTES. Mr. Alexander Johnson, of the State Board of Charities, went from Fort Wayne to Richmond, and was there yesterday inspecting the Eastern Hospital for the In-Commencing to-morrow the Sunday school of the Central-avenue Methodist Episcopal Church will be held from 9:30 to 10:40 A. M., instead of afternoon, as heretofore. The morning preaching service will begin at 10:45.

Major Hitt, chief clerk of the railway mail service, has appointed F. E. Compton, of Columbus, O., as postal clerk on the Pitteburg and St. Louis division to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of S. B. Tobias, of Covington, O. The young ladies of St. Paul's Church will hold a novel entertainment at the residence of Rev. G. A. Carstensen, 789 North Pennsylvania street, to-night. They will be dressed in Japanese costumes, and offer for sale Japanese handswork. Ices and re-freshments will be served. Last night, at police roll call Cornelius Mayer, the retiring city editor of the German Telegraph, took occasion to thank the patrolmen and police officials generally for past favors in a most happy little speech.

Mr. Mayer's effort was received by the officers most kindly, and, it is needless to say, "brought down the house."

William Flora and James McClintock, laborers employed on a building on Wa-bash street, undertook to settle a dispute yesterday by the manly art. The fight was brief, for Sergeant Mefford happened along just in time to declare the match a draw. McClintock exposed a beautiful black eye, which he said Flors had given him, and the latter was arrested.

GERMAN KNIGHTS PROTEST

Feeling Aroused by the Requirement that All Work Be in English.

Protesting Convention of German Lodges, Embracing a Membership of Twenty-Five Thousand, Called for June 12.

A call has been issued for a convention of German lodges of the Knights of Pythias to be held in this city on June 12 to protest against the action of the Supreme Lodge which met in Denver last year on the question of ritual. At this meeting of the Supreme Lodge a new ritual was adopted, and upon a vote of fifty to fifty-one, it was decided that there should be no translation for the German lodges, as had been the case in the ritual which was superseded. The German lodges were naturally displeased at this action, and this displeasure was augmented by the fact that the question was not considered until after a large number of the delegates had departed. Another fact that displeased the German lodges was that the preceding Supreme Lodge had passed the inhibition against admitting saloon keepers, which was considered to be a discrimination against the Germans. Koerner Lodge, No. 6, and Schiller Lodge, No. 61, the two German lodges of this city, issued circulars to all the German lodges in the country, 125 in number, embracing a membership of 25,000, advising a convention of German lodges to protest against the action of the Supreme Lodge. Favorable replies were received to all these circulars, and the call has been issued for the date named. The Grand Lodge of the State meets in this city June 6, and pressure will be brought to bear upon it to induce it not to suspend the German lodges not adopting the new ritual in accordance with the provision that all lodges not adopting it after it should go into effect in February should be suspended.

Futile Attempt at Suicide. Nora Dauberschein, aged eighteen years, an inmate of a brothel at No. 173 West Court street, attempted suicide by taking several grains of morphine yesterday evening. It was the old story of a quarrel with her lover and the desire to die following. The lover is a young man named Lee, employed at Foster's restaurant, on the corner of Tennessee and Washington streets. The girl took the poison about 6 o'clock yesterday evening, and it was discovered at 8 o'clock, when Dr. Sluss was called, and succeeded in resuscitating her.

Thought It Was Mysterious. Coroner Beck's attention was called to the death of a colored man named Crockter at No. 4 Susquehanna street, yesterday, but made no investigation into the cause of the death, as the death return made by Dr. Wagner showed that death was due to typhoid fever. Mrs. Crockter, wife of the man, thought there was something wrong from the fact that her husband had only been sick since Monday, and desired an autopsy. She afterwards, however, became satisfied with the return and the matter was dropped
